Winegarner, Markham; Bernard Korkoski, Posen; Mr. Gilman Midlothian; Earl Siemsen, Arbor Park; Raymond Ek, Forest Ridge; Supt. W. F. Fierke, Tinley Park; and Fred Goebel township treasurer. Abraham Lincoln's Birthday—Feb. 12

As long as there is a democracy fostering tolerance and forbearance, loyal Americans will enshrine the memory of Abraham Lincoln in their hearts.

Think of America in 1862; compare it "four score and seven years" later. The nation was riven in a cataclysmic Civil War: Hatred was rampant. Five million of our people were slaves. Lee was about to invade Pennsylvania, Sherman to destroy Georgia. And, in addition there was an Anti-Masonic party, an Anti-Catholic Party, an Anti-Negro Party—and doubtless an Anti-Everything Party—all ready to overthrow the country to attain their ends. Suspicion, hate, mistrust everywhere. Today "Dixie" is sung proudly in Boston. "Yankee Doodle" in Atlanta. Detroiters brag about Texas. Southerners boast of their fine Negro colleges at Fisk, Meharry and Tuskegee. Protestants, Catholic and Jewish clergy appear on the same lecture platform to an applauding audience. Spaghetti, sauerkraut, bagels, chop suey and chili all are hailed as American dishes, as indeed they are. Jewish governors, Catholic senators and colored Major Leaguers are proof of American brotherhood. In trifling ways and in big ways, American unity demonstrates itself today.

Most of us would be the first to agree with Mr. Lincoln that we still have a long way to go. But the spirit is there—the direction is right. More and more as the years pass by, we are becoming a people "with malice toward none, with charity for all."

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Nelson announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Eileen Carol to Mr. Frank Stauffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stauffer of Mokena.

The wedding will take place Saturday evening, February 26 at 7:30 o'clock in the Immanuel Lutheran church in Mokena. A reception will follow in St. Mary's hall.

After months of talking, planning wondering about the school questions, we now know where we stand at least for the time being, because at the school election held last Saturday, the question of consolidation of schools was defeated.

Many folks were for it, many against it and many still did not understand, and therefore did not vote or voted against the proposition. It was the people's choice, to vote as they desired and we respect that decision. In order to have the proposition carry, both the rural and incorporated areas in each locality were required to have the majority vote for the consolidation. The only rural polling place in the area voting for it was the Ann Rutledge school in Lincoln Estates.

The Vote: For Against Incorporated Areas:

Mokena	134	58
Frankfort	43	194
Manhattan	38	86
New Lenox	111	68
Totals	331	406

Rural Areas:
Gougar School	29
Schmuhl School	26
Cleveland School	35
Rahm School	4
Ann Rutledge	78
Summit Hill	6
Pfundstein	38
Totals	216

Saturday the Plainfield area voted on the same proposition which also did not carry. This was the last school election on the consolidation question, all other schools in Will county having voted previously. The law required all schools to hold such elections by March 1, 1949 showing approval or disapproval of the school survey report. The count is now five against and three for the committee's recommendations for consolidation.

In favor are the districts in Crete, Beecher, and Peotone. Against it are Joliet, Lockport-Homer, Braidwood-Wilmington and now Plainfield, Wheatland-DuPage, Troy areas besides the one in this section.

FAMILY OF FOUR IN HOSPITAL BY AUTO ACCIDENT

Skidding on the icy pavement on Route 30 Monday evening put a family of four in the St. James hospital at Chicago Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Dixon of 79th avenue, Lincoln Estates were driving east on route 30 when a Cadillac car going west skidded, causing the driver to lose control, and collided with the Dixon car when it arrived at 78th ave.

In the front seat were Mr. and Mrs. Dixon and their six month old baby, which Mrs. Dixon threw in the back seat when she saw what was coming. In the back seat were their children Gloria, age 12; Jimmy 9 and Billy 6. All received cuts on their face. Mrs. Dixon received a leg injury and Mr. Dixon had his knee cap broken. Gloria's foot was injured and Jimmy lost several teeth and his jaw was broken. Their car was badly damaged and it is thought beyond repair.

A young couple from Michigan was driving the Cadillac to California. The driver's wife, who is soon to become a mother, received a broken pelvis.

Hits High Prices

President of A. M. Perlman, Inc., and known as the "Prince of Prints," Mr. Perlman stated that despite extra costs his firm will absorb any loss in the undertaking. "It is good business," he maintains, "to create conditions whereby a woman can buy two dresses instead of one. A start has to be made somewhere—I hope this is it."

The total vote taken at Ann Rutledge District 156, on Feb. 5, reached 104, which was considered a little disappointing. The proposed Consolidation program was carried in this district with 78 voting for the plan and 26 against. The program was defeated, however, in the surrounding area.

The regular meeting of Ann Rutledge PTO was held at the school Tuesday evening, Feb. 1. The regular business meeting was dispensed with and the program was given over to Rex Brown, who is a representative of American Airlines. Mr. Brown showed some very interesting and beautiful movies of an air trip through Sweden and Norway called "Wings Over Vikingland." These movies were in sound and color and were certainly enjoyed by everyone.

The meeting then went into a general discussion on consolidation with opinions on the subject from members of surrounding schools who were the guests of the evening.

After the discussion, refreshments were served by the hostesses Mrs. Walter Carter, Mrs. J. C. Vaughn and Mrs. John Kay.

Mr. Norman Bradley, president of the school board of Ann Rutledge resigned his post last week and Robert Lloyd, 87th avenue, has been appointed by the Board to fill the vacancy. Mr. Lloyd has been scoutmaster of the community for some time and is known for his interest in other civic affairs.

Mr. G. MacWharther, 80th avenue is in Florida on a business trip.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Vaughn, 79th avenue suffered burns from the fumes of a vaporizer which was being used to treat her cold last week. She was burned rather badly about the face and eyes but the burns are healing now and it is believed there will be no scars.

Randy Wheeler, 80th avenue, celebrated his fourth birthday last Saturday Feb. 5. A party was held in his honor Sunday, Feb. 6 at which the guests were Tommy and Johnny Marcoux of Flossmoor; Patty and Normie Bradley, Wanda and Joyce Martin and Judy and Dennis Wheeler.

U. S. PRODUCED LARGEST WORLD SOY BEAN CROP

America has experienced a great agricultural achievement by producing more than one third the total soy bean crop of the world this past year, surpassing China's yield for the first time in history.

This was pointed out by Richard F. Uhlmann president of the Chicago Board of Trade, who addressed the grain marketing session of the 48th Annual Farm and Home Week program sponsored jointly by the University of Illinois College of Agriculture and the Illinois Farmers Institute.

American farmers began showing serious interest in soy beans only in 1929, and now have nearly 10 million acres under cultivation, he said. "There was considerable worry at the beginning whether we would ever find markets for this new crop—but 170 million bushels were ground last year for valuable oil and meal. Reserves have been successfully consumed before the next crop is available. This proves the economic necessity to continue raising big crops."

While Mr. Uhlmann declared he could not prove how consumption would have been affected in the absence of free, open and competitive markets for the bean, the soybean industry has benefited markedly from the great central exchanges where the crop is marketed. "It is a fact that the margin between buying and selling prices must have been narrower than if the merchant had been compelled to assume the additional risk of price fluctuation" so characteristic of a marketing situation without any central exchanges.

"I say this advisedly," Mr. Uhlmann continued, "because of my own experience in handling large quantities of milled and sorghums and the fact that there was no way to protect one's self against sharp price changes, we simply required a larger margin of profit or we could not have stayed in business."

"Nobody can be sure whether demand will fully keep pace with supply should some of the Asiatic countries again have a surplus, but it is fair to say that if we do have larger reserves at some future time and a bigger carry over from one crop to the next, that processors will look much more eagerly towards hedging facilities than they have in the past. This would be particularly true if support levels were reduced during a period when the trade was predominantly in a long position and everybody felt that he had to sell at once."

"It goes without saying that prosperity springs from the soil, and that the large crops of all cereals during the war years were a tremendous help in feeding our allies and bringing us to a successful conclusion. It is a tremendous tribute to American agriculture that we have not only been able to feed ourselves at home, but have found it possible, even with our ever increasing population, to ship large quantities abroad. The problem of the farmer since our agriculture first started was not to produce less, but rather sell more. In doing this he needed not only markets but unrestricted markets in which the world could participate. The pioneer farmer in this country who carted his grain over muddy roads could have hardly stretched his imagination to visualize present grain marketing operations."

Inevitable Critics

Lesson for February 13, 1949

ONCE UPON a time, so the old story goes, there was a chameleon, a lizard that can change its color to match whatever it stands on. They put him on a black cloth and he turned black; on a red tablecloth and he turned red; on a green billiard table and he turned green. Then some mean person set him down on a Christmas necktie—and the poor little thing exploded.

Dr. Foreman

This is a parable of the person who tries to please everybody. It can't be done—and it ought not to be tried. "Woe unto you," said Jesus, "when all men speak well of you."

Jesus Christ himself did not please every one. Not even a perfect personality can be 100 per cent popular. Not that Jesus enjoyed rubbing people the wrong way. There was nothing perverse about him. He was deeply sincerely, friendly, and to lose any friendships must have been even more painful for him than for us who are so selfish. Nevertheless he did make enemies, he had his critics; and his followers may expect no better.

Misunderstanding Motives
ONE POINT on which Jesus met terrific opposition was his attitude toward the Sabbath. Repeatedly he or his disciples would do things on the Sabbath which (as Jews then understood the law) were quite wrong. There are Jewish communities in Palestine today where a man walking on the street on the Sabbath smoking a cigarette would be warned to put it out; for it is against the Mosaic law to light a fire on the sacred day, even a tiny fire at the end of a cigarette.

It was just that sort of thing that Jesus ran into, more than once. His enemies misunderstood, or at least misrepresented, his motives.

They claimed that he was "blasphemous," that is, that he was deliberately making light of God's law. The truth was that he was acting by God's highest law—the law of love. Helping people in need was more important than keeping the letter of the Sabbath law. Jesus' example may help us here.

Stepping Out of Bounds
WHEN Jesus healed the man with the palsy, it was not the cure his critics found fault with, it was his first saying "Your sins are forgiven." "Who can forgive sins but God alone?" they said. In short, the Pharisees thought—some of them perhaps sincerely—that Jesus was stepping out of bounds, pretending to do something that he had no right to attempt and no power to accomplish.

Now Jesus did have both the right and the power to say what he said to that sick and sinful man. And he made no apologies for going beyond the limits his critics set for him.

So we too may sometimes be accused of "biting off too much," of going beyond our powers or capacities. Our critics may be right, you know, though Jesus' critics never were. But how often they are wrong! If Lincoln had listened to his critics he never would have left his backwoods law office; they did not think him fit to be president. If the Wright boys had listened to their neighbors, they never would have flown an airplane, for who would have thought a couple of bicycle mechanics could do what so many scientists said was impossible?

The Company You Keep
JESUS' friends got him into trouble, as Mark shows us. For one thing, some were the "wrong sort" like Matthew the tax-collector. Then his friends had an unconventional kind of religion, they actually seemed happy about it instead of gloomy like some of John's disciples. And to make matters worse, his friends "broke" the Sabbath laws much as Jesus did. All in all, Jesus' critics complained that Jesus' friends were a bad lot, and they judged him by the company he kept. But Jesus knew his friends better than his enemies did.

He never gave up or loosened a single friendship on his critics' account. Some of his friends gave him up, but he never gave them up.

So the Christian, if he has anything like Jesus' gift for making friends, may find himself criticized for their sakes.

Need to Speed
Up Soil Testing

Illinois farmers are testing more and more cropland to learn what plant foods it needs. But they need to speed up the job. Otherwise our soils may wear out so badly from present cropping systems that they may never recover.

That's the way A. U. Thor, head of the soil testing laboratory at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, sees the situation. He also supervises the 68 county laboratories that serve 75 counties.

You can get your soil tested at these laboratories for limestone, available phosphorous and available potash. It costs only a few cents, which pays for operating costs. And you'll get a list of suggestions telling how you can do a better job of soil management.

In 1947, 700,000 acres were tested in these county laboratories. Last year an estimated 1 million acres were tested. But Thor says it will take more than 25 acres to test all 26 million acres of arable soils and plowable pastures at the present rate of testing.

"But soils need to be retested every six to eight years at least and we must allow for that too," Thor said. "It is plain that more acres must be tested each year if we expect to get the job done before it is too late."

About $50,000 was spent in testing the soils on 11,276 farms last year. This number is only about one out of every 20 farms in the state.

Management's Role in Modern Farming

by O. R. Johnson

University of Missouri, Columbia

Better farm management can give startling results. If managed as well as the best 20% of the farms are managed, output of the average acre could be doubled. In most areas the output of pasture land could be increased three or four times. Our cleverest feeders get 60% more out of their feed than do average feeders. Production per cow, sow or hen could be increased 50% to 100% if animals and methods as good as those used by the top 20% of our farmers were employed by all farmers.

There are two ways of achieving higher production per acre without increasing costs. The most practical method is to raise the level of management efficiency without increasing present working forces per farm. The other method is for the farm family, with modern power and machinery, to farm more acres. This second method has obvious limitations. For there would not be enough acres to go around without eliminating many farm families. Do we want larger farm units and reduced farm population? Many think not.

However, many farmers are now faced with adopting either one or the other of the above methods. Farmers must meet today's high operating costs and still maintain living standards without forcing prices beyond the reach of the average consumer. Consumers cannot be expected to support, indefinitely, inefficient farm output by paying the high prices such inefficiency demands.

UNION STOCK YARDS, CHICAGO 9, ILLINOIS

Nutrition is our business—and yours

Because your business of farming and ranching is so closely related to our business of meat packing, we believe you are interested in an accounting of Swift & Company's operations in 1948. On this page we tell you how much money we received, how we spent this money, and how much we earned for services performed.

The past year was reasonably profitable to both producers and Swift & Company. That's the way it should be in America. A fair profit to producers means better living and insures a sound program on farms and ranches. A fair profit to business in cities and towns helps maintain purchasing power and markets for the products which you and Swift have to sell.

In 1948, Swift & Company paid nearly two billion dollars for agricultural products. We processed and distributed nationwide this output of your land and labor... cattle, calves, hogs, lambs, dairy and poultry products, soybeans, cottonseed, peanuts and other products of agriculture. For these we paid out 79.8 cents from each dollar we received from the sale of our products.

HOW THE DOLLAR WAS DIVIDED

In America a business is operated to serve the public, and to earn a profit for its owners. In 1948, Swift earned $27,889,210 net profit. That was an average of 1.2 cents out of each dollar we received from the sale of our products. Who got the balance of 98.8 cents? It went to people who work directly in the livestock-meat industry, to additional thousands in other businesses.

1. The major cost of meat packing is the purchase of livestock and other agricultural products. Swift paid $1,883,823,473 to farmers and ranchers last year. You, the producers, received 79.8 cents out of each average dollar we took in from sales.

2. Swift & Company employs 73,000 men and women to provide the services producers, retailers and consumers demand. The employees look to their company for regular, gainful employment. They earned $226,154,019 in wages and salaries in 1948... or 9.6 cents of each average sales dollar.

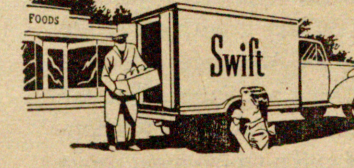

3. Supplies of all kinds—sugar, salt, spices, containers, fuel, electricity cost us $94,809,928. These supplies are furnished by other businesses. Our purchases from them created work and wages for many more Americans. This took 4 cents of our average sales dollar.

4. Transportation charges are a necessary item of expense, and a large one, too. Meats are moved an average of 1,000 miles from farm and ranch to market. During 1948, in distributing our products to cities, towns and villages, Swift & Company spent $46,702,457 for transportation by rail and motor. This amounted to 2.0 cents of each average dollar of sales income.

5. Government expenses—fire and police protection, national defense, roads, social security, public education, etc.—are all paid out of taxes. Swift's tax bill for the year was $35,220,291. The Federal Government and each of the 48 states collected some of this amount. And taxes were paid in hundreds of municipalities where our plants and properties are located. Federal, state and local taxes took 1.5 cents of our average sales dollar.

6. More than 200,000 retail store operators look to Swift for a regular supply of meats and other Swift products. We help build retailers' trade by developing nationwide consumer markets. Our research laboratories and test kitchens also help create consumer demand. Depreciation, interest and other expenses common to every business, add to this total. All these cost $46,514,663 or 1.9 cents of the average dollar of sales.

That's the story of the division of Swift's average dollar received from sales. Of that dollar, 98.8 cents went to other people or businesses. The 1.2 cents left is our return for processing, marketing and distributing meats and other products for millions of American families. Out of this return—or net earnings—our 64,000 shareholders, men and women who invested their savings in the Company, received dividends which took 7/10 of a cent of the average sales dollar. The balance of 1/2 cent was retained to provide for future needs of the Company.

FARM HEAD SEES
DISASTER FROM
PRICE DISPARITY

With the price of food sliding down ward farther and faster than the cost of other goods and services, President Charles B. Shuman, of the Illinois Agricultural association said that farmers are facing a condition that might well end in disaster.

With farm costs still rising and farm prices dropping Shuman sees the same conditions prevailing as preceded the disastrous farm deflation period following World War I.

"Take the case of bread" Shuman said, "the average price of wheat dropped 30 per cent in 1948, but during that same period the price of bread to the consumer rose 0.7 percent."

Shuman pointed out that according to the wholesale price index of the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics the January 18, 1949 price index for farm products was 170.1 compared with a price index of 201.1 for the same week a year ago. (The year 1926 is considered the base year with a price index of 100).

"While the price index for farm products dropped 31 points," he continued "the Bureau of Labor Statistics index shows that commodities other than farm products and foods rose from about 148 in January 1948 to about 153 in January 1949."

"Unless checked soon," Shuman said, "this two-way trend can have but one result—a repetition of the disaster which befell this nation in 1929."

"Agricultural income and agricultural spending remain as one of the most important factors determining the trend of national income and general price levels."

"The industrial economy might coast along for a few months or years without our support," Shuman said "but sooner or later the drag of a prostrate agriculture will cause a crash."

Alternate Rows of Corn and Beans
Increases Yields

Corn yields have been increased from eight to 27 bushels an acre by University of Illinois agronomists by planting alternate double rows of corn and soybeans.

Much more experimental work needs to be done before exact recommendations can be made, says A. L. Lang of the College of Agriculture. But there is every sign that this new method of planting corn will increase the yields materially.

On the Babb farm, Champaign county, double rows of corn and soybeans were planted alternately in 1947. Rows were 40 inches apart, corn was drilled at the rate of 15,500 plants an acre; and no fertilizer was used. The yield was 35 bushels an acre. This was 27 bushels higher than the test plot of all corn which produced only 8 bushels an acre.

In another trial, 200 pounds of 8-8-8 fertilizer and 200 pounds of calcium cyanide were applied per acre. Corn in alternate rows yielded 77 bushels an acre compared with 69 bushels for the plot in all corn.

Narrowing the rows to 35 inches and using the same fertilizer used in the test described above produced 91 bushels an acre on the alternate rows, although there was no satisfactory check with corn planted solid. Making the rows five inches narrower permitted an increase of almost 2,000 corn plants an acre.

In 1948 on the same farm and with 40 inch rows, corn alternated with beans gave a 103 bushel average yield. This was 15 bushels more than the 88 bushel yield on the check plot. When 200 pounds of 3-12-12 fertilizers were used, alternate rows out yielded the check plot by 12 bushels an acre.

Before alternate planting of corn and beans becomes practical for the farm, however, harvesting problems must be worked out, Lang points out. Planting and cultivating are not much of a problem.

The American Way

A Republican Rebels

By George Peck

Speculation continues as to why President Truman was able to confound the pollsters and upset the Dewey "apple cart." A reader of my column has sent me a copy of a letter which he sent on December 31, 1948 to the Republican National Committee. This letter was in reply to a solicitation of financial support.

If this letter reflects the viewpoint of many members of the Republican party (the number of letters I have received from others expressing similar sentiments would indicate that it does), perhaps here we have the real answer as to why a plurality of the American people refused to buy Mr. Dewey's apples. At any rate, I am passing this letter along without further comment. It reads as follows:

"I have your letter of December 6 asking for a continuance of my 40 years' support of the Republican party. I fail to see why I should continue this support.

"I object to paternalism in Government, which leads to the complete futility of Socialism. There are several good organizations fighting this paternalism, but the Republican Party is not one of them."

"I object to the stupidity that encourages the Government to tax dollars from me, take them to the Federal Treasury send them from there to my State Treasury, from there to my Municipal Treasury, to be spent as a gift from the Great White Father. If these same dollars were paid direct to my Municipal Treasury they would be worth at least 25 percent more, and a lot of the bureaucrats would be engaged in productive labor instead of bringing votes to their respective administrations. The Republican Party does nothing about this."

"I object to paying taxes to subsidize increased production of farm products that will have to be bought and destroyed by the Government." This is hard on the consumer, and in the long run bad for the farmer. The Republican party took no stand on this.

"So it goes. The Republican Party has fallen into the error of making its decisions on the number of votes it thinks it can buy, rather than on principle. Four times it has lost to the New Deal paternalism on a 'me too' basis, and is still puzzled to know why it lost."

"Some 35 or 40 million voters did not go to the polls last November because they had no one to vote for. Why don't you go after those voters?"

"Alexander Hamilton, essentially a Republican fought for the assumption of the debts of the states, and by winning established the credit of our new country and the foundations of its greatness."

"Lincoln fought for unity of the country and consolidated the nation. 'I didn't vote in 1896, but I remember the excitement of that campaign.' Free silver was popular as all 'free' (sic) things are but the Republicans fought for sound money, and in winning began an era of incredible prosperity for the people of this country."

"The Republican Party needs the moral judgment to decide what is right and what is wrong."

"It needs the integrity to believe in the right."

"It needs the intelligence to present what is right so clearly and forcefully that the people will understand and support it."

"When the Republican Party returns to its heritage of morality, integrity and intelligence, which enabled it to lead the country to greatness in the past, I will be glad again to contribute and will do so with a prayer of thankfulness in my heart."

"Until then, goodbye."

USE GARDEN HOSE
TO SAFELY MELT
SLEET ON TREES

Sleet and wet snow are among the gardener's most ruthless enemies. In a few short hours, these implacable foes can ruin trees and plantings that took years to grow. Damage each year runs into millions of dollars. Tens of thousands of irreplaceable trees and shrubs are lost.

Ice constitutes a real problem especially when there's a rain and an immediate freeze that builds a tremendous weight of ice on limbs and branches. In the northern states, trees in Winter may have to carry many times their own weight in ice, points out Barton Smith, an executive of the Davey Tree Expert Co. Home owners should be on constant guard during the next few months.

Where the problem is snow, there are some simple steps that often can avert serious damage. With evergreens whose lush foliage offers a large surface for accumulation, simply shake by hand and dislodge the snow. Or if the plants cannot be reached easily, take a broom and gently brush the snow off.

Another good method is to use the back of a rake to lift the branches and carefully shake off the snow. Be sure not to press down on the branches for being frozen and brittle they break easily. And don't let snow pile up too much—even if you have to go into action before the snowfall stops.

When ice forms on trees and shrubs, the one acceptable method for removal is to water with the garden hose. Water temperatures generally are above the freezing point. By playing the hose on twigs and branches, the ice generally will melt, provided the air temperature is not below 26 or 27 degrees F. If you can use lukewarm water, so much the better. Make sure the water is not hot, for you may harm the trees you are trying to help. Above all do not try to chip or break the ice.

Washington News
Letter

From Congressman N. M. Mason

Government Ownership and Operation—The President recommends that the government build and operate steel mills to insure an adequate supply of steel. An example of government ownership and operation is the United States Postal System. Is the Postal Service efficient, and does it pay its way? The Hoover Commission reports the following facts:

1. The Post Office lost last year $150,000,000 on second class mail; $90,000,000 on third class mail; $70,000,000 on fourth class mail; $50,000,000 on air mail; $30,000,000 on money order and postal notes; and $12,000,000 on odds and ends; a total loss of $402,000,000.

2. As against this loss in those activities of the Postal System in which it has no monopoly, but must compete for business with private industry, the Postal System made a profit upon first class mail—the field in which it has a monopoly—of $150,000,000.

The Postal System as a whole, there fore lost $250,000,000 last year—the biggest boom year in our history. The Post Office has lost money 112 years out of the last 120 years, and the taxpayers have had to dig down into their pockets to make up the losses. The Postal System pays no interest on interest on its investment; no depreciation on its buildings; no taxes on its huge plant; and no insurance. If a Post Office burns down it is replaced by new appropriations by Congress. If the Postal System kept books upon these items, charging these expenses to the costs of operation as private business does, then its losses would be tremendous. This is one sample of government ownership and operation. Do we want to branch out into the steel business?

Capitalism vs. Socialism

A war is being fought in the halls of Congress between the upholders of capitalism and the proponents of socialism. This war has been going on for 16 years, and so far the proponents of socialism have been gaining ground. The future of America rests upon the outcome of this struggle during the next four years.

For 16 years, under Roosevelt and Truman the United States has marched along the New Deal path toward an American version of socialism. If the 81st Congress adopts the legislative program demanded by the bosses of organized labor and promised them by Mr. Truman—socialized medicine, an extended and liberalized social security program, repeal of the Taft Hartley Act, and a government housing program—the die will be cast; and American liberty will have been bartered for serfdom. Will this be progress or reaction? It took 1,000 years for the serfs of Europe to become free men. It has taken less than 30 years for Europe to go back to dictatorship, government control and serfdom. We are traveling that same path at a rapid rate. Will four more years do the job?

A Message from Moscow

William Z. Foster, head of the Communist Party in the United States, says: "No Communist, no matter how many votes he should secure in a national election, could even if he would become President of the present government of the United States—and that day will come just as surely as the sun rises—the government will not be a capitalist government but a Soviet government and behind this government will stand the Red Army to enforce the dictatorship of the proletariat."

Could an American have said that? Or does it sound like a message from Moscow?

PUBLIC ADDRESS SYSTEM TAKEN TO
AIR BY LINES

The public address system has taken to the air via American airlines. C. R. Smith, president disclosed that the necessary equipment has been installed in the airline's entire fleet of DC-6s to supply in flight reports and call attention to points of interest along the way.

"We decided to take this step because it was found that the 300 mile an hour speed of the DC6, plus the increase in the number of passengers, has outmoded the old way of supplying information in writing or by word of mouth."

Both pilots and stewardesses use the public address system to give passengers pertinent information. One pilot even told a Christmas story for the benefit of the kids traveling with him shortly before Xmas.

In most cases "broadcasting" gets underway while the plane is taxiing for take off, with the stewardess giving the route and flight plan to the next stop, the weather ahead; the outside temperature and meal information. When the Flagship reaches cruising altitude the Captain provides such information as aircraft altitude, cabin altitude due to pressurization, air speed and the estimated time over the next checkpoint.

Other typical announcements are: "We will be landing in Tulsa in about 20 minutes. We will arrive a little early because of a good tail wind."

Announcements can be heard from any seat within the huge Flagships. Placed at strategic spots throughout the cabin, the speakers were installed in Tulsa, Okla.

Happy Landing

"Say Roger!" This is the signal for taking off familiar to these three young pilots from different parts of the country who have landed in Chicago's great medical center. Anne, Jean and Marion, flying in civilian patrol during the war, have many solo hours to their credit. At Cook County Hospital in Chicago, said to be the largest institution of its kind in the world, they are now busy piling up hours of nursing duty for their future careers.

At Cook County School of Nursing the student nurses form their own governing body in cooperation with the school faculty, and combine hard work with a balanced time for recreation and their individual hobbies, of which there are many.

Before becoming pilots these girls were active in the work of the 4 H Clubs. Spring class opens at Cook County on March 22 and two courses are available: A three year course and a combined college and nursing course which takes five years and leads to a college degree and a diploma in nursing as well. The director is receiving applications at 1900 West Polk Street, Chicago.
